Risk Warning: Past performance is not indicative of future results. Our investment management services relate to a variety of investments, each of which can fluctuate in value. The value of portfolios we manage may fall as well as rise, and the investor may not get back the full amount originally invested. The investment risk vary between different types of instruments. For example, for portfolios denominated in foreign currencies, changes in the rate of exchange may cause the value of investments, and consequently the value of the portfolio, to increase or decrease. In the case of a higher portfolio volatility, the realized loss upon redemption may be high, as the investment's value may decline substantially. In making an investment decision, prospective investors must rely on their own examination of the merits and risks involved. Outlook

Uncertainty around US tariffs catalysed a sharp sell-off in broad equity markets in recent weeks. Within the equity complex, the sell off is led by the leaders in 2023 and 2024 such as Magnificent 7 stocks as well as US tech-related stocks.

Drawdowns to the tune of what has been experienced thus far in markets are par for the course of investing in equities. Large equity drawdowns typically happen in an environment of tightening liquidity or sharp rise in inflation. The current investment landscape is instead one where bond yields are not rising, while both USD and oil price are falling.

The outlook for equities over the medium term remains constructive. On the fundamentals front, the US economy remains resilient with steady job growth, rising wages and positive consumer sentiment. Analysts are also projecting double-digit earnings growth for US companies in 2025. On the policy front, most major central banks are easing monetary policy. Chinese policy makers have indicated plans to increase public spending to support economic growth.

The investment strategy for Elite Funds is to navigate 2025 with a diversified portfolio, relying on different sectors and regions that have different return drivers, rather than a small number of stocks. Such a strategy has mitigated the impact of the drawdown in the US equity market on the Elite Funds as Elite Funds' investments in other regions such as Europe equities and Asia equities have held up better in this environment. Markets are fluid and dynamic asset allocation coupled with disciplined risk management will be relied on to navigate the ever-evolving investment landscape.
